THE DAILY PRESS.
Reading room.
 The periodicals which are received at the Press, and which are loaned to the Readers, are the following:

Report in the shape of exonerating edicts, praising as they do, a fair portion of the late newspapers and their proprietors, from various parts of the world, are from and after this date thrown open to the mercantile and shipping community of this colony. The papers are filed and laid out in a large commodious room, the book files being kept with all perfectly readable rigour.

It is hoped and expected that the masters and owners of ships will supply this room with many of their late papers which they may have to spare, in order that the same may be made available to the public, so that they being may be laid on the tables bono publico.

The following is a list of the periodicals which will be found on the tables, and where they may be perused, and as the only object of undertaking it is to establish a focus of intelligence available, free of charge, to the general public, the proprietor trusts that he may be assisted and encouraged.
